

Indexing and retrieval architecture

The two vector paths are alternatives selected before indexing.

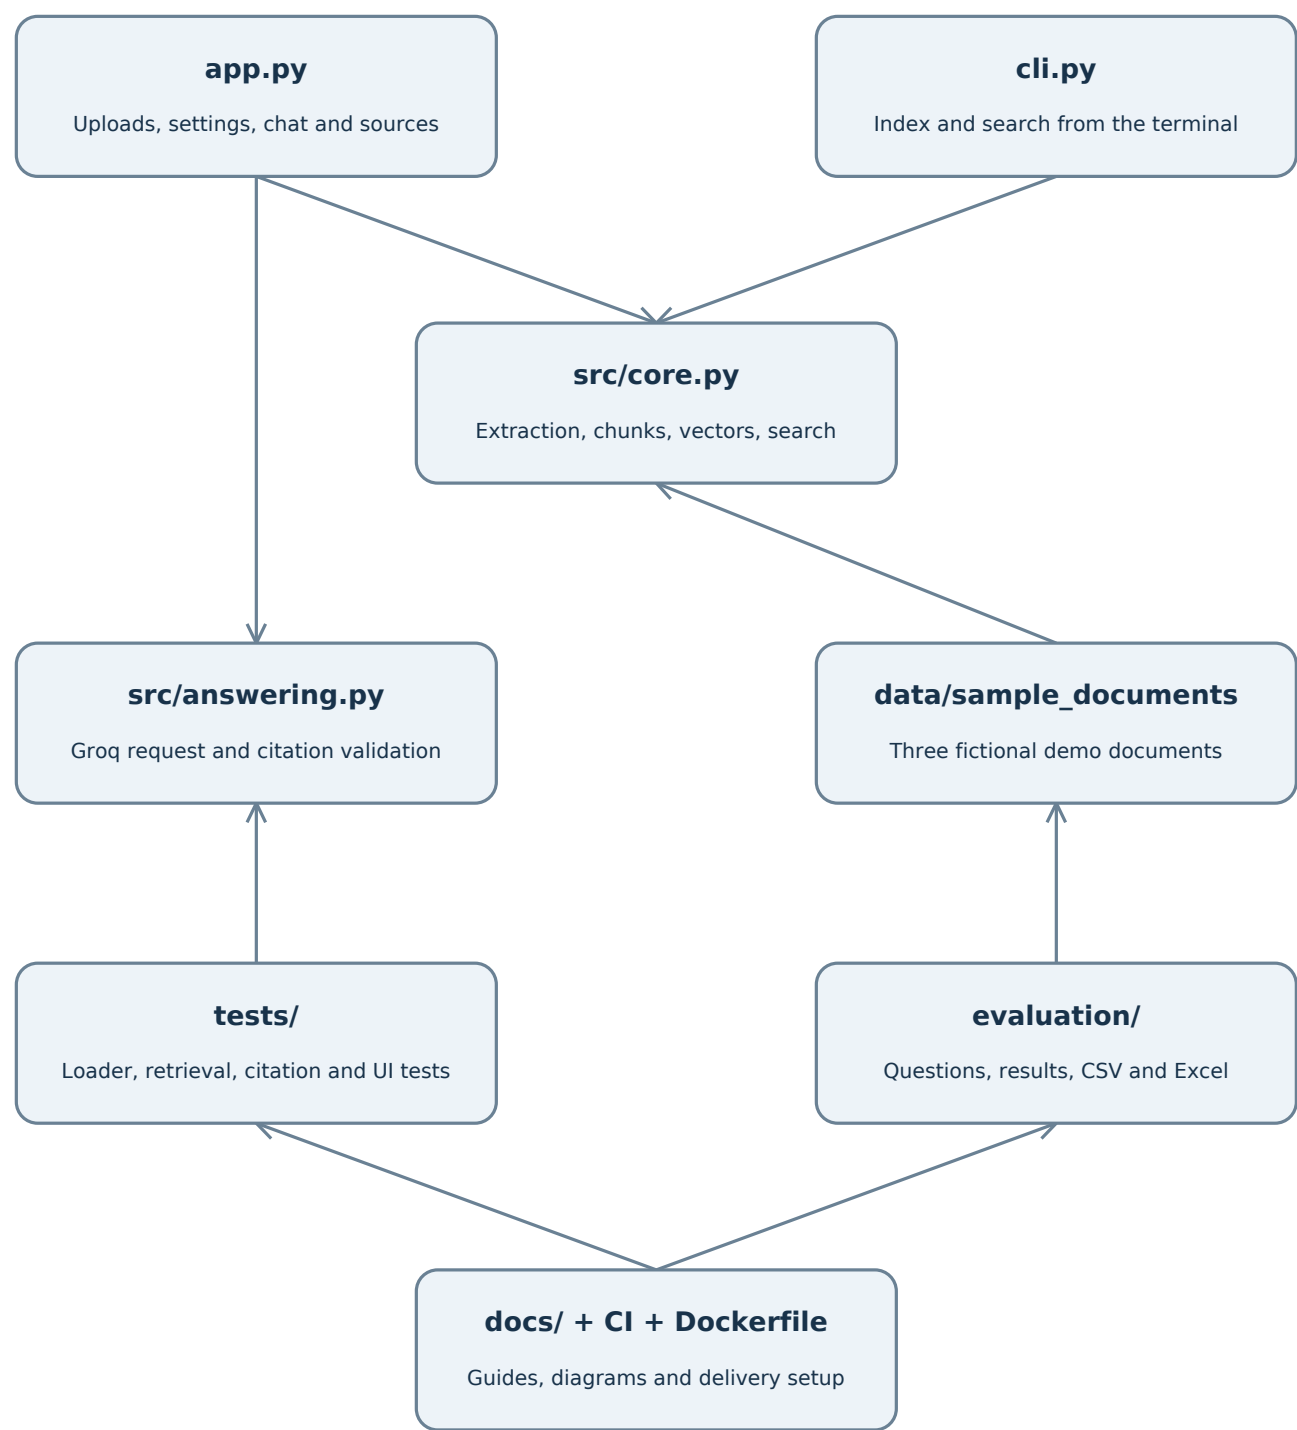

The CLI persists JSON and optional NumPy arrays; the web app uses session memory.

Question answering and refusal paths

A high retrieval score does not establish that evidence answers the question.
Citation checks validate identifiers, not factual support. Live AI mode is unverified.

Code modules and supporting artifacts

Arrows indicate use or verification relationships, not inheritance.

Source code and sample data are separate from explanatory and evaluation artifacts.
